SISYPHUS' SURRENDER

PASSAGE TO DAWN
KILLERS
PERFECT MISMATCH
NO-FAULT DIVORCE
DISTANT FLICKERING LIGHT

DEUTERONOMY 28:53

*"I charge thee, fling away ambition:
By that sin fell the angels."*

William Shakespeare, Henry VIII

*As the sea begins to rise, I move in closer by your side
Strange attraction, fool's reaction, only goes to show
That you don't know what you have until it's gone*

*As the fire fills the sky, you whisper please don't shut me out
Ache and teardrops may not help but who could stand the sight
To see all you ever hoped for in your life, in a slow descent before your very eyes*

*No matter when or where you're from, no matter where your heart belongs
Be sure to love the one you chose, and be sure your loved one knows*

*In a car parked in the rain, light's reflections trick the brain
Down the hillside, see you run toward the road
But there's no one there to greet me anymore
Just the memory of a place I used to go*

KILLERS

Cassandra Street is full of leaves, I pace impatiently
As if the years were only weeks, the illness just passing
In every line I ever wrote, with all this heart can hold
For every hour still afloat, you know I only want you more
But behind that door

I will wake up covered with blood
What if there isn't a God, then who will forgive us for how

We're killing ourselves this way, leading our dreams astray
Cursing or clinging, screaming or singing

We're killing ourselves this way

With fingers running through your hair, inside your lover's arms
Why say you don't know if it's there, the promise I gave you
'Cause I know you do

Still I wake up broken and cut, whisper enough is enough and wait
But what could you say

PERFECT MISMATCH

*Daylight, morning, stroke back your hair and kiss your cheek
Your eyes are calling, darling your beauty makes me weak
Souls blend, we're lovers and friends, intertwined by destiny
A smile and I say, there's no other way
But baby what good is a dream*

*When all I really want is to leave you
Going, returning, feels like we're leaves in the stream
Two hearts yearning, can't we just wish for something real
Stale face, choking embrace, is it me or are you scared
And why do I say that I like you this way
Is it easier, just easier to bear*

I just want to leave you, all I really want is to leave you

Baby can I put it right here

NO-FAULT DIVORCE

Come, sit yourself down, precious, special one
Watch, see yourself run, reaching for anyone
Your eyes saying, these lungs can only breathe if your heart is with me
But I lied baby, no love will find its way through an ocean of need

To hold you, to kiss you, a last dance, I'll miss you, goodbye
Why would love light a hope just to let our hearts down
To think that I'm leaving with every touch screaming for more
But do you know what we're breaking them for / I'll always be waiting

/ I know hearts are breaking

Look, look what you've done, darling, dearest one
See, the webs that you've spun, fearing everyone
Your eyes saying, don't worry, while you're here they can do you no harm
But I lied baby, no fire's burned me more than the warmth of your arms

Maybe someday, somewhere, with someone who loves me
I'll be closing my eyes, knowing you're no longer there
But as hard as I try to fight back the tears
The memories defeat the passing of years
And as sure as I'll never be back
You'll be singing with me

DISTANT FLICKERING LIGHT

You can tell me all your dreams, what you long for, how it feels Hours still till dawn arrives, no one to stop you, only you and I

*Say what you'll say but not sorry, no more regrets, no pretend
Don't be afraid, don't climb back down, don't wait
We will all fall, have some faith*

Faith, it's just faith

*You can tell me all your dreams, painful secrets, shameful needs
Put your precious pride aside, no one will love you if no one gets to try*

You can tell me all your dreams, what you long for, how it feels Hours still till dawn arrives, no one could stop you, and why would someone try

CHASTITY FIELDS

*Toe the line, stay close to the exits, have faith in God and that love comes around
So I tried, but this faithful receiver lies cold on hallowed ground*

*Didn't I get you what you asked for, didn't I get you everything
Couldn't stop watching, could you, a young boy dying
But I can't let you remember me that way*

*Girl alright, she's got the whole world within her, she moves ahead but I'm falling behind
Ten and out, I slip through her fingers as something breaks inside*

*Didn't I get you what you asked for, didn't I get you everything
Couldn't stop watching, could you, a young boy dying
But no, you won't get to remember me that way*

*Be the soil, the sea, the air, be a judge extraordinaire, but beware
Be a pain to those astray, giveth life, defy the grave, but behave*

*Take me down to where my heart went missing, would you
Hold my hand and let me cry
Help me trust the love I can't begin to understand
Hold my hand*

COME WEIGH ME DOWN

I look for a start, I look for a line, but there's not a way I could explain
A stab to the heart, a shot to the brain, stubs of my fingers painting her name

Shipwreck eyes, take this life, God knows I've missed my sleepless nights
Come weigh me down
Shipwreck eyes, the Devil cries, don't wait for true love to arrive
Come weigh me down

You look for a start, you look for a life, while each night you're only sinking deeper
So pack up your knives, tread lightly the stairs, leave him a letter, worse is better

I know of flowers flooding the fields
And I know scars heal, if you treat scars right
I know of courage conquering fear
But these things take years, and I want you now

MAN DEVOID OF GRACE

*Can you recall the beginning of the rain
Do you remember the night the demons came
You ran for comfort to the man devoid of grace
Have a heart you cried, as I watched you die*

*There is no forgiveness for me, no forgiveness, none to receive
I have failed to deliver so miserably, that there is no forgiveness for me*

*Thanks for the call, I'm glad all turned out right
I should have been there for your magic wedding night
But that thing still haunts me, and I guess I'm writing now
To apologize, but then why would I*

*When there's no forgiveness for me, no forgiveness, there was not meant to be
I have no such illusions I shall ever be free, there's just no forgiveness for me*

*There is no forgiveness for me, no forgiveness, still it's hard to conceive
Though I'll always keep dreaming how you'll come back to me
There is no forgiveness for me*

SHARLEEN

See the shadow, see the cloud above your head
You can reach it, you can touch it if you stretch
In your bed, laying under that cloud in the dark
Right behind it, the sky's full of shimmering stars
You make love to their names as I sing them by heart
But baby I'm falling apart

Sharleen, is there a way to break your heart, is it already broken
Not sure if you saw me try, but I can't help you now

I could love you, I could love you if I tried
I could give you, give you back some kind of life
But why pretend there's a love you can't judge by the cost
What's a promise but playing with somebody's trust
Give me something that makes for a start or just stop
'Cause baby I'm giving you up

Sharleen, is there a way to break your heart, is it already broken
Sharleen, is that tears in your eyes, but I can't help you now

I could love you, but why

DEUTERONOMY 28:53

Come my love, sing me a psalm, story of how we've become Strangers to all we vowed to be, set to complete the greatest of sins

*If ever I'll breathe, life beyond this lifeless meat, cursed with pride, plagued by greed
If ever you'll feel, the kind of love that isn't need, may your love wash me clean*

I will cut you up, I will eat your heart

*Sing my love, the Requiem's done, sing for love, 'cause everything's gone
Fallen, the purpose of a life, no darker shame than to still be alive*

*If ever I'll breathe, dare to shake this numb disease, heart of stone, hands of steel
If ever you'll wake, to feel compassion pain can't break, may your love light my way*

I will cut you up, I will eat your heart
